Notice Regarding Termination of Sponsored American Depositary Receipt (ADR) Program

Olympus Corporation ("Olympus") hereby announces that the Board of Directors held today has decided to terminate the sponsored American Depositary Receipt (ADR) program as described below.

1. Reasons for termination

In June 1993, Olympus launched the sponsored ADR program with the aim of increasing convenience for overseas investors, cultivating new investors, and expanding our investor base. Taking into consideration the recent significant increase in stock trading by overseas investors in the Japanese stock market, we have decided to terminate the sponsored ADR program.

2. Date of termination

January 31, 2023 (scheduled)

3. Future actions

ADR holders will be contacted separately by The Bank of New York Mellon, the depositary bank, regarding the schedule and procedures for termination.

For inquiries regarding ADR:

Depositary Receipts Department, The Bank of New York Mellon (U.S.)
